Comments:

Thank you to all who came to Nick Andralojc's first Lampo. It was a cold and rather damp night, but the rain held off and you all enjoyed some tricky controls with some interesting route choices. There was quite a bit of unlit path running which will have made your headlights more appreciated than usual. As will be seen, some of the lampost numbers were a bit confusing and I have adopted a relaxed approach where this was plain from the control cards. On to the next Lampo on 12 February!
