The satellites appeared to have been poorly aligned for last night's MapRun with a number of revisions being posted after the event to post the correct scores. While the satellites may have been poor, there was also a poor weather forecast which meant we had dry runs instead of wet ones. A good number got full or near full scores, maybe we are getting fitter.

Thank you to Pamela for providing us with an enjoyable evening, both out in the streets and in Zizzis afterwards.
